

This is to certify that Suranto actively participated in the Universitas Negeri Yogyakarta 'Sandwich Program' at RMIT University. The program at RMIT began in October 2008 and concluded in January 2009. The program had five components:

1. Language Component including
 - structured classes;
 - small group discussions;
 - teacher-student consultations and;
 - oral and written reporting.
2. Research Training Component including
 - Library orientation;
 - Small group seminars
 - Seminars on research methodology
 - Individual consultation
3. Individual Study and Research Component including
 - Research assistance
 - Visits to primary and secondary schools in Hamilton and Melbourne
 - Visits to South West College of Technical and Further Education and the Rural Industries Skills Training College in Hamilton.
4. Cultural Component including
 - Visit to Melbourne Immigration Museum
 - Field trip to Hamilton that included visits to Brambuk Aboriginal centre in the Grampians and Ballygunin sheep station in Western Victoria.
5. Conference Paper and Presentation
 - At the commencement of the program all students were invited to present a paper about their research at the School of Management Graduation Conference in December 2008. In addition to RMIT staff, this conference was attended by staff from the Graduate School of UNY. The conference served as a focus for the Language and Research components of the program.

David Hodges PhD, MA (International Studies), MEdSt, BTh, Dip Ed
Director, Bachelor of Business – International Business Program
Sandwich Program Director
School of Management

20th January 2009